How?

Track your Consumption History to learn when you are using electricity.

By clicking on the bars in the graphs, you can learn how much and when you are using the most electricity.

High usage when no one is home may mean unnecessary appliances, such as televisions and computers, need to be turned off.

A significant spike in power every day at 6pm may signal everyone getting home, but it could also mean doors are being left open, or a more efficient way of preparing dinner may be needed.

You can look at monthly, daily, hourly
...even 15-minute usage intervals!!

You must have an Online Account to access this information.
